Petroleum Open Day 2009

Petroleum Open Day 2009

The annual Petroleum Open Day hosted by the Petroleum and Environment Division and the Geological Survey Division was held at the Esplanade Hotel Fremantle on Thursday 3 September 2009.

The day provided the department with an opportunity to update industry on developments, provide feedback to stakeholders and discuss trends for the future.

Topics that were covered included:

- WA's growing energy sector - Richard Sellers (Director General Department of Mines and Petroleum)
- Improving WA's petroleum approvals processes - Graham Cobby (Strategic Policy Division)
- The National Carbon Storage Mapping Initiative - Jeff Haworth (Geological Survey Division)
- Developing tight gas resources in WA - Stephen Keenihan (Latent Petroleum)
- Carribuddy Group : removing uncertainties - Peter Haines (Geological Survey Division)
- The Department's role in fostering exploration - Tim Griffin (Geological Survey Division)
- Petroleum and Geothermal Acreage Release opportunities - Richard Bruce (Petroleum and Environment Division)
- The Department's role in approval of the Gorgon Development - Reza Malek (Petroleum and Environment Division)
