I want to… menu

Transcript

In this video you will learn the functions of, and how to use, the "I want to…" menu in TENGRAPH (Web).

Start by left clicking on the "I want to…" menu button.

A menu list drops down. Select "Find a mining tenement" by left clicking the menu item

Type the mining tenement ID in the Tenement ID box, then press search to automatically select and zoom to the desired tenement.

In the Results panel click on tenement ID to open tenement information. Click on the Tabs for more information. Click the cross at the top right of the information box to close

Using the "I want to…" menu, click on Run a quick appraisal. When the "Run a quick appraisal" button is clicked, a Tenement Quick Appraisal window will open where you can type in a tenement ID, Select your options by clicking on the check boxes and then click "Continue" to begin the appraisal.

While TENGRAPH runs a quick appraisal on your tenement you can still use the "I want to…" menu, left click the "I want to…" menu and select "View current tenement holder"

Note: The Print Map and Quick Appraisal features can both run in the background while using TENGRAPH (Web).

The Tenement Quick Appraisal is complete and the Tenement Quick Appraisal window opens, left click on the hyperlink to open the tenement appraisal report. By clicking on the link the tenement appraisal report opens in a new window.

Scroll up and down the page to view the full report and close the browser tab when you are finished.

Close any windows that you have finished using such as the Tenement Quick Appraisal and the Print Map windows by clicking the cross in the top right hand corner, or the close button.

Once the windows are closed, you are left with the Print Jobs window open, the loading icon near the top of the window indicates the print job is still processing.

While the print job continues, click the "I want to…" menu and select "Toggle On/Off mining graticules" to overlay either GDA94 or AGD84 mining graticules over the screen in TENGRAPH (Web). You can determine the name of each graticular block by right clicking inside the block and selecting "What's Here" from the context menu.

Clicking "What's Here" enquires all of TENGRAPH's active layers at the point where you clicked. The results are displayed in the Information Panel.

Each item in the results has a name (capitalized in blue text) and a layer description (lowercase black text beneath the name).

Move your mouse pointer over the result item KALGOORLIE 3115w, the graticular block will highlight blue on the TENGRAPH map.

Click the "I want to…" menu and select the same "Toggle On/Off mining graticules" as you did in the previous step to turn off the mining graticule grid.

To display dead tenements in TENGRAPH, click the "I want to…" menu and select Toggle On/Off dead mining tenements. Clicking this "I want to…" menu item again will turn off the dead mining tenements layer.

The Print Jobs window on the left side of the screen shows the processing has finished and the printed map is ready, left click on the "Open" text to open the map. From here you can print or save the map. When you have finished, close the tab and return to TENGRAPH (Web).

Close the Print Jobs window by clicking the cross at the top right corner.

You can open a specific topic in the help manual by clicking the "I want to…" menu and selecting the "What's This" item. Then click on a section of the TENGRAPH (Web) screen that you want information about.

You can use the Silverlight help to search for any GIS topic.

Once you have finished with the Online Help window, close the browser tab to return to the TENGRAPH (Web) screen.
